Strength: is more than just a word Line F. Nielsen

We all go through what feels like a lot of pain and heart-ship in our lives and I am not any different but I like to be happy in the strength of my survival.. I am still here and my fight is not even close to ending but neither is my joy. So why is strength more than a word you ask? Well linguistically it isn't but I believe in the thing called life it is! Strength can of course both be in body and mind and in my experience the most important is that one of our minds. You are strong if you keep up fighting when you feel like giving up, you are strong when you dare to love and you are strong when you acknowledge that you have weaknesses but that you also have things that makes you special. You are strong because you still stand strong even in your darkness.
