As prices of traditional library materials increase, and space to house them shrinks, savvy school library media specialists are creating cyber libraries, or school libraries on the Internet. These libraries offer students and their parents 24-hour access and are invaluable for providing up-to-date information in a way traditional materials cannot. This guide outlines the steps library media specialists can take to create a cyber library, provide content and policies for use, and maintain it for maximum efficiency.

Craver justifies the need for cyber libraries in the 21st century, and how they can help librarians to meet the standards in Information Power (1998). She explains the different types of cyber libraries available, along with their advantages and disadvantages. She discusses how to construct them using portals or by acquiring fee-based cyber libraries, and what policies should be in place to protect both the school and its students. Also included are instructions for establishing remote access to subscription databases, creating cyber reading rooms, and providing instructional services to student users. Once a cyber library is created, it must be maintained and evaluated to keep it useful and current, and this book provides guidelines to do so. Finally, there is a chapter on promoting the cyber library, so the school community is aware of its features and participates in its growth process. No school library should be without this volume!

Margarita Culbertson:

As a pupil exactly feel bored to help reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library or make summary for some e-book, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's internal or real their interest. They just do what the trainer want, like asked to go to the library. They go to at this time there but nothing reading seriously. Any students feel that studying is not important, boring and also can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is being complicated. Book is very important to suit your needs. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever you want. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country.

Therefore , this Creating Cyber Libraries: An Instructional Guide for School Library Media Specialists can make you feel more interested to read.
