When Times Are Tough, the Tough Try Human Trafficking John Mendelssohn

Like millions of other Americans, I suddenly found myself unemployed after the economic downturn of 2008.

I tried everything I could think of to keep the wolf from the door. I worked in sweatshops, and as a prison guard, and as a census enumerator, and as a gigolo. I worked for racketeer-influenced criminal organizations, got between Brad and Angelina and sold my story to the tabloids. I opened a papal supplies store, and worked as a pimp. I kidnapped Justin Bieber. I swallowed my pride and even became a finalist on American Idol, at least in my fantasies.

Nothing worked. But then I realized something -- that when the going gets tough, the tough try human trafficking.

Here, hilariously, are my adventures-- and misadventures -- in that and a variety of other lines of work. There but for fortune go you, pal.
